Naming your project

Since 2008, the Cultural Heritage Center has made a concerted effort to standardize the way we name AFCP projects. Generally, project titles begin with one of the following terms:

- Conservation (including Preventive Conservation)
- Consolidation
- Documentation
- Preservation
- Protection (often as Preservation and Protection)
- Rescue Excavation
- Stabilization (including Emergency Stabilization)
- Training (as in Training in the Preservation, Conservation, or Protection of something) and include (ideally and if known): the age of the site, object, collection, or tradition; the name of the object, site, or form of expression (Baka Dance, etc.); and the location.

Here is an example of this naming convention in action, from a project in Ethiopia:
